Denounces Exemption

We have the Arkansas Democrat on our side — and there's no better ally.

Karr Shannon, Democrat columnist, wrote me on March 19 asking for confirmation of a rumor that I was going to circulate a petition to refer the 1935 legislative act exempting poultry and livestock feed from the state sales tax. I replied in detail March 22. The Democrat had the story all over the front page March 24 — and the rest is history.

On April 4 Mr. Shannon joined us editorially. Here is his story in the News column in the Arkansas Democrat of that date:

Poultry Industry and Sales Tax Exemption

After it had been definitely established that a group in South Arkansas, headed by Alex. Washburn, editor of the Hope Star, would refer the 1935 law exempting feed from the 2 per cent sales tax, the poultry industry elected strong opposition. Charles D. Hawks, manager of the Arkansas Poultry Federation, pointed out that the poultry industry is the second biggest source of agricultural income in Arkansas and that the 2 per cent sales tax had put the industry in an "impossible" competitive position. "Repeal of the exemption law," he said, "would bankrupt commercial chicken growers." Mr. Hawks made these statements to the press March 24 when the Democrat front-paged the news about the move for repeal.

In a letter published in the Democrat's "Readers' Views" March 3, Mr. Hawks stated that the total amount of tax revenue the state could possibly lose as a result of the feed exemption "won't exceed one million dollars." He then went on to say that Arkansas produced 4.5 million more broilers in 1934 than in 1933 (78,324,000), but the gross income was $8,000,000 less than in 1933.

Price of Natl. Average

"During 1934, our price averaged eight-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average," he continued. "Arkansas ranked lowest on the average price, because we had to take markets at losses to keep the industry in the state. It is ironic that the feed sales tax accounts for five-tenths of a cent per pound production cost."

Mr. Hawks states that eight-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average helped to cut the gross income of the poultry industry to $6,000,000 less than that of the previous year and that the 2 per cent sales tax accounted for five-tenths of a cent per pound production cost.

Then, with the sales tax removed, the industry would still be on the line and the price average would still be three-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average.

Hope City Council last night abolished the job of night police chief, hired two employees for the Water and Light Plant to work during the night.

In an economy move the group voted 7 to 1 to abolish the job of night police chief, effective immediately. This action followed a long discussion of the issue.

During discussion on the issue it was pointed out that the police committee of the city chamber of commerce, it was announced, had been asked to look into the possibility of abolishing the position.

The group also agreed to hire two men to help at the Water and Light plant and light crew during the peak summer months and during vacations.

The council agreed to enforce an ordinance concerning carnivals in Fair park. They instructed the police chief to collect a license fee of $10 from the carnival.

I replied in detail March 22. The Democrat had the story all over the front page March 24 — and the rest is history.

On April 4 Mr. Shannon joined us editorially. Here is his story in the News column in the Arkansas Democrat of that date:

After it had been definitely established that a group in South Arkansas, headed by Alex. Repeal of the exemption law, he said, would bankrupt commercial chicken growers. Mr. Hawks made these statements to the press March 24 when the Democrat front-paged the news about the move for repeal.

In a letter published in the Democrat's "Readers' Views" March 3, Mr. Hawks stated that the total amount of tax revenue the state could possibly lose as a result of the feed exemption "won't exceed one million dollars." He then went on to say that Arkansas produced 4.5 million more broilers in 1934 than in 1933 (78,324,000), but the gross income was $8,000,000 less than in 1933.

Price Relative, Nat'l. Average

"During 1934, our price averaged eight-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average," he continued. "Arkansas ranked lowest on the average price, because we had to take markets at losses to keep the industry in the state. It is ironic that the feed sales tax accounts for five-tenths of a cent per pound production cost."

Mr. Hawks states that eight-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average helped to cut the gross income of the poultry industry to $6,000,000 less than that of the previous year and that the 2 per cent sales tax accounted for five-tenths of a cent per pound production cost.

Then, with the sales tax removed, the industry would still be on the line and the price average would still be three-tenths of a cent per pound less than the national average.

Mr. Hawks also stated that the poultry industry continues as of 1934, wouldn't be much of a saving grace. Mr. Hawks explained to me that the average weight of a broiler as it is sold over the counter to the customer is two pounds. The 78,324,000 chicks produced by the industry in 1934 weighed approximately 156,648,000 pounds. The sales tax on feed, running at one-half cent per pound would be $78,324.

For Arkansas' second biggest agricultural industry, an industry that reaches into 72 of the 75 counties, this is a small item — small when considered the cost of NOT collecting it.

Under the feed exemption law, persons purchasing feed will be required to register with the State Revenue Department and will be assigned a permit number. Dealers must obtain forms on which they list the amount of the sale, and the purchaser's permit number. The forms must be signed by both the purchaser and the dealer, and sold forms to be obtained through the Revenue Department's 80-odd offices throughout the state.

Besides the red tape and double-bookkeeping, depriving upon the merchants, the Revenue Department possibly will have to employ extra auditors and inspectors, and must print and distribute the multiplicity of extra blanks—all at the taxpayers' expense.

Seventy-eight thousand, five hundred and twenty-five dollars is a small margin between success and bankruptcy of an industry that sold 157,000,000 pounds of chickens last year. It grossed $6,000,000 less than the figure for the previous year. With the sales tax off, it would have been $6,001,472.

There is apparently something wrong with Arkansas poultry industry, but cost of the 2 per cent sales tax is not the cause. The 1935 feed exemption law is not confined to the poultry industry, however. It also applies to feed purchased for turkeys, geese, ducks, hogs, cattle, horses, mules, sheep and other poultry, pets and livestock raised for home or market.

Little Doubt on Referral

The loss in state revenue on all these has been estimated to total from one to three million dollars a year, eventually may be narrowed to the point of tipping the cost of

Eden Becomes Britain's Prime Minister

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An overriding concern to preserve Western solidarity against Russia is likely to dominate the policies of Britain's new Eden government, just as it did that of Sir Winston Churchill.

But U. S. officials said privately today Sir Anthony Eden will not do things in the same way Churchill did, and there is no use pretending there will not be some differences in U. S.-British relations.

What these differences are going to be, they think it quite possible that Eden will seek early talks with top American officials. He will find such an occasion when Secretary of State Dallas to Europe for a North Atlantic Treaty meeting in May. He could come here to confer with President, Eisenhower, though officials said there is no present plan for such a meeting.

Churchill and Eden have been closely identified for 6 or more years that there is a tendency to consider them identical in motives and reactions. That is not true, according to men who have worked with both of them.

Some 35 witnesses testified during the two day trial, W. O. Adams, charged with robbery, this case was called before it was discovered that no formal indictment had been filed against the pair, he case was reset for this morning.

One technician stuck a needle in my finger and took some blood samples. Five minutes later I was standing in front of a big machine setting a chest X-ray. The doctor methodically poked me all over, took my blood pressure, listened to my heart, asked me about every ailment I had ever known. And he wrote it all down in my folder.

Next came the inside expert. One specialist did everything from X-ray to scalp. The final specialist, a woman, examined my chest. His examination was admirably painless. He said, "Cut out one of your lungs." "Cut out one of your lungs?" I asked. "Yes, one of your lungs." "Why?" "Because it's bad." "How bad?" "Very bad." "What do you mean?" "It's cancer." "Cancer?" "Yes, cancer." "Where?" "In your lung." "How big?" "About the size of a walnut." "How long has it been there?" "About a year." "How did you find it?" "By X-ray." "What do you recommend?" "Surgery." "When?" "As soon as possible." "Where?" "In the hospital." "Which hospital?" "The one over on the corner." "What time?" "About 10 o'clock." "Will you be there?" "Yes, I will be there." "Thank you very much." "You're welcome." "Goodbye." "Goodbye."

After dressing, I then was led into the office of Dr. David H. Goldstein, chief of the department of medicine. He looked at the X-ray and said, "It's cancer." "Cancer?" "Yes, cancer." "Where?" "In your lung." "How big?" "About the size of a walnut." "How long has it been there?" "About a year." "How did you find it?" "By X-ray." "What do you recommend?" "Surgery." "When?" Spooner Likely Won't Be Able to Help Bums

By Ed Wilks
Of The Associated Press

It begins to look as if the Brooklyn Dodgers may not have Earl Spooner any sooner this season than last.

The 23-year-old lefty was the kid who broke up the wake held by the Brooklyn faithful at the tail end of the 1954 campaign after the New York Giants had laid the Dodgers to rest.

Spooner came up from Fort Worth and in two starts he set the Giants on their ears 3-0 and 4-0, and he was the hero of the club that slugged the Dodgers in the first game of the season.

From the words which have been going on for several days about Spooner and the 12 strikeouts he added against the Dodgers, there can be no doubt that the 23-year-old lefty was one of the best players who was under discussion.

There exists now virtually an open break between the pair, but Spooner has been virtually in the club since he was first called up.

A shoulder pain made him rest a while. Then he threw against the White Sox and did well, but felt the pain again. He rested again coming back April 1 for three innings against Milwaukee.

He was hit hard, but no pain. Yesterday he tried another three frames against the Braves and the arm "hurt like a son-of-a-bitch."

The Brooklyn trainer said he didn't think Spooner would be able to pitch for several days. He felt the pain again. He rested again coming back April 1 for three innings against Milwaukee.

He was hit hard, but no pain. Yesterday he tried another three frames against the Braves and the arm "hurt like a son-of-a-bitch."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

Lawrence, Haddix in L. R. Play

LITTLE ROCK, (UPI)—Lawrence and Haddix are scheduled to play for the St. Louis Cardinals today against the Chicago White Sox.

Lawrence has been tapped by Manager Eddie Stanky to open the Cards' season at Chicago next Tuesday.

Some of them still are sore at the club's first home game at St. Louis two days later.

Stanky said both would have another chance at duty before their regular season performances.

Hope Baseball Team Takes M. S. Youths

By Ed Wilks

Yesterday at Mineral Springs, the Big League All-Stars dropped a strong Mineral Springs team 4-3.

Mineral Springs jumped to an early 3-0 lead but Hope countered in the fifth inning with four runs on consecutive singles by Jerry Fant, Wayne Johnson, Johnny Lingo and Bruce Duke, a Mineral Springs error on Dale Zinke sharply hit grounder and a single by pitcher Lee Lane.

The Hope kids also played good defensive baseball with Steve McGraw making two run saving throws to the plate from deep center field, Lee Lane, Hope pitcher, gave up only three hits while hitting for seven, five of them extra base blows.

This was Mineral Springs' second defeat in the past two years and first for this season.

The Big League All-Stars team is made up from outstanding players from the Citizen Bank, Hope Star, Rotary Club and Coca Cola Bottling Co. teams.

Snooky Larson Will Cling to His Nickname

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Snooky Larson of it, Parade has been on big-time television out of New York nearly five years now.

That's long enough for an ambitious Tennessee lad to acquire big city sophistication and elegant diction and revert to his real first name of Roy.

But personable Snooky says he has no intention of dropping either his nickname or his Dixie drawl. He figures they're trademarks.

The "Snooky" derived from the popularity, when he was a youngster, of an Irving Berlin tune called "Snooky-Ookums," which Snooky liked.

Kidded at school about his nickname, Larson had to defend his nickname so much he became a little belligerent about it. He decided to remain Snooky.

Ted Mack, veteran of more than two decades of night time radio and TV with Amator Hour, is making his first excursion into day time programming. Talking about his new afternoon show that began this week on WBC-TV, Mack admits, "I'm flying blind, because I've never done it before."

But he still defends his time to be on the air, by experience, he has formed these conclusions about daytime TV.

"It doesn't seem to me that at that hour people are sitting there just watching the show. It's incidental to what they're doing."

He's going to play the guys he thinks are best. He's got to be must get away fast or those wolves will be on him. Why should I have to be on the air? He's got to be on the air. He's got to be on the air.

Even Alton admits I am in much better condition than last year. "We talked things over. It was a private chat."

Robinson, Alton Patch Up Fuss

By Ed Wilks

WASHINGTON (AP)—What promised to flare into a major feud between Manager Walter Alton and infielder Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers fizzled today.

"It's all over as far as I'm concerned," said Alton, who got the scrap when Robinson complained to newspapermen that he wasn't being played enough.

"But all this isn't going to change my mind one iota. The third base job is still between Robinson and Don Hoak. The better man will play opening day and I'm not going to announce a decision before Monday."

For his part, Robinson admitted he was sorry he started the fight. But he still defended himself. "It looks like I've stirred up a hornet's nest," he said. "I've come out, but I want to play. I think I've been playing well enough this spring to be playing more than I have."

"He's going to play the guys he thinks are best. He's got to be must get away fast or those wolves will be on him. Why should I have to be on the air? He's got to be on the air. He's got to be on the air."

Even Alton admits I am in much better condition than last year. "We talked things over. It was a private chat."

Chinese Reds Start Purge in Manchuria

YOKOYO — China's Communist masters cracked down with harsh new discipline in party ranks today in the wake of their first purge of top men since they took over the country in 1948. Peiping radio announced the startling story to the world today. It said the Communist party had ordered Kuo Kang, the "Minister of Education," who had been China's faltering five-year plan, to be executed. The purge was the first of a series of such purges in the early days of the new regime.

The Communist leader, Peiping's Mao, former party secretary for China, "has never shown any signs of repentance and now persists in an attitude of attack," Peiping said.

That seemed to indicate that the purge was not a simple matter of discipline, but a purge of the party and the state with the intention of creating a "party control" at all levels to "strengthen discipline and prevent a recurrence of so serious a case as the Kuo Kang incident," Peiping said.

Notifies Family Convict Is Alive

CUMMINS PRISON FARM (U) — Sup. Lee Hennessy of the state prison farm here wants the family of a prisoner, is very much alive. Hennessy said today that a Negro inmate, James A. Riley, who had been sentenced to life in prison for the murder of a woman, had been found alive and well in a telegram to the farm inquiring about Riley's body.

"He's just about as well as any man can be," said Hennessy. "He's working every day as a houseboy for one of our employees."

The prison superintendent said he had had no word from Riley since he was sentenced to life in prison for the murder of a woman. He said he had been told that Riley was "dead," but he said he had just learned that Riley was still alive.

Radioactive Water Found in Cincinnati

By FRANK CAREY

CINCINNATI (U) — Radio activity that got into drinking water in Cincinnati, in the change of the water supply following the 1954 hydrogen tests in the Pacific, was "about 800 times less than the levels of radio activity permissible in drinking water," said a spokesman for the U. S. Public Health Service today.

And he added, the amount also, was very much less, than you would find anywhere in nature, such as in springs, where people bathe for their health and which may occasionally drink.

Your Editor Gets a Question and Gives an Answer

Editor The Star: Recognizing you as the authority on Arkansas sales tax matters I wish you to answer these questions:

1. Is there any Arkansas industry other than farming which pays a 2% tax on raw materials? Such as cloth for the clothing factory, flour for the bakery, newspaper, etc.?

I have long been under the impression that the Arkansas sales tax law has shown much discrimination against the farmers and poultrymen and that the rest of the legislature was to partially correct this wrong.

2. Is there a large share of the sales tax in consumer goods with no complaint, but the feed, fertilizer and other items used in a transaction tax and unless shared by all producers within the state, it is a burden on the consumer?

Am I wrong?

P. S. — Written for an answer rather than publicity.

I am interrupting publication of our state-wide letter to answer your question. We have had many letters from farmers and poultrymen who have lived in this community a long time, and will continue to do so. The law is as follows:

Mr. Biorseth does me too much justice when he calls me a "farmer." I am a farmer. I have lived in this community a long time, and will continue to do so. The law is as follows:

Nuclear Power Plants Proposed by Four Groups

WASHINGTON (U) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that four groups have proposed to build "nuclear power" demonstration plants, which would cost a total of $10,000,000 and generate 45,000 kilowatts of electricity.

The four groups are the AEC, the Electric Power Administration, the Federal Power Commission, and the National Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC Chairman, Lewis L. Strauss, hailed the proposals as proof that the industry is ready to risk money on atomic energy.

They were made under the AEC's announced power demonstration program, which is to be carried out by the commission paying the cost.

One of the four was a public power proposal submitted by the Consumers Public Power District of Columbia, Neb.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-Iowa) said today that the commission was taking place in various state departments and agencies.

Asked if the changes were being made at his direction, the governor replied that such changes were being initiated by the executive department.

Newsmen learned that large numbers of people were taking place in various state departments and agencies.

The AEC also noted in addition to the proposals, the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, has applied for a license to build, under its own, a $10,000,000 nuclear power station to cost about $55,000,000.

This plant, which would take about five years to build, would be the first financed entirely by private enterprise as a strictly business venture.

The other proposals were made under special offers by the AEC to build a nuclear power plant to enter the atomic power field and on a bigger scale than the first.

In none of the five instances has the AEC granted formal approval, but the most of the drafted licensing regulations covering such proposals as Consolidated Edison's.

Of the four power demonstration proposals, the AEC said they were considering on competitive basis within the limits of money and materials available to the commission.

The commission has been asked Congress for $75,000,000 to finance the program in the year starting July 1.

McClellan Says Stassen Will Give Some Data

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. McClellan (D-Md.) said today that Stassen has agreed to give some data on the "vast majority" of the documents which he has threatened to subpoena if the foreign aid bill is passed.

McClellan said Stassen agreed to submit to him for personal inspection "the very few documents which the Foreign Relations Administration chief may yet decide the Senate investigations subcommittee has a right to have."

McClellan, who heads the subcommittee, said he has Stassen have a day Monday to discuss the matter further. He said Stassen promised to "give some data" then at least most of the requested documents.

Stassen said he was negotiating for construction of a grain storage project in the Philippines. The subcommittee is investigating the results reported "substantial progress" toward an agreement.

Pending a "review" of the documents, Stassen declined on the committee's request to make a day to hand them over. He stood on the constitutional separation of powers and said he would probably be made to make a day to hand them over.
